Description

Hello there, hope you all enjoying your weekend. I have a card to share with you all. I am going to enter this card for few challenges.

I used Distressed Ink (tumbled glass) with a technique I learnt on YouTube by Gina K. you can find that here. With kind of shadow effect, I really liked it, although tweaked by masking only a corner of the card to make the umbrella standout. Sweet Dreams

The umbrella was designed using circle cutter and then, with scallop-edge scissors cut out a semi-circle with serrated side. I have made one card few days back using the same technique you can find that here. I have done some doodling on my umbrella and colored it with Prisma colored pencils. For the sentiment I used Hero Art stamp (CL351) and colored the banner also with the same Distressed Ink he pai...
