About the Author

Anila Dikay

I am Anila Dikay, from Mumbai, India. Professionally an Interior Designer, I have been crafting for more than 12 years. I love crafting in all forms and have had an opportunity to explore many of them throughout my journey.

I enjoy scrapbooking, decoupage, card making, mixed media, stamping etc. I find great joy in using these art forms in creating some sustainable utility products which can be used in our households.

Presently, I run a small home-based business wherein I exhibit and sell such products.

And it makes me immensely proud and happy to see people like and appreciate my efforts.

I think crafting, in every form, is your own set of colorful gift tags energy potion that rejuvenates your mind and soul and keeps you stress-free.

So thankful to Kanan for her lovely gesture of inviting me over her blog.
