

Mudra First Birthday Blog Hop!

Description

Hello and welcome to our "First Birthday Blog Hop"!

Yes, Mudra is one year old this month and what an amazing journey it has been so far. And this month, we want to celebrate our big milestone with you because it wouldn't have been possible without your support. We have so many fun things lined up throughout the month with lots of chances for you to participate and win some cool prizes.

We wanted to start the celebration today by bringing together our amazing design team and few of our friends to share some of their beautiful creations with Mudra products.

We have an amazing line-up of projects that you sure are going to love!

For today's special day I made a birthday card!!

I think a birthday card is incomplete without some balloons. I used the lovely "Balloons" stamp set by Mudra's Jan release for my card. I stamped the balloons using Distress inks and went on the image with a wet brush and highlighted some of the area using more inks. I then colored around the balloons using lightest grey zig marker. I stamped the adorable ostrich image from the "Feathered Love" stamp set by Mudra which I colored with polychromos pencils. The sentiment is from "Beautiful Butterfliesâ€™ stamp set which I stamped and cut in a banner shaped and added on the panel. For more interest I die cut the bottom of the panel using Simon Says Stampâ€™s die. I added the patterned paper on the card base and then added the top panel on it with some foam tape. Lastly added some gems. I love those lovely balloons and that adorable ostrich.

Your next stop on the hop is lovely, Ria Banerjee (She has something very beautiful to show you on her blog). If you got lost, please go back to the Mudra blog.

I am so happy to be part of Mudra Creative Team!! I love all the beautiful designs Mudra offers. It is so lovely to work with all the talented and hard working group of ladies. Huge congrats to Varshitha and all the members of the team. â€œHappy 1st Brithday, Mudra!! And many more years to come.â€œ

Thank you so much for visiting. ðŸ™,
